

PLAY AGAINST AIDS

HIV primary prevention interactive project
By using game children increase general knowledge about ways of HIV virus transmission, sexually transmissible infections and protection against unplanned pregnancy.
Children and students think about their own stand on the problem and behavior at risk situations.

CONCEPT

Participants are divided into 5 teams (8-10 person and same number of opposite female each team).
Teams have their own speaker and team nick name.
Team speaker is a play card holder. Play card serves to write down scored points. The final score of each team is calculated at the end of the program, where the knowledge and activity of the team is considered.
